

Prof. Domenico Cucinotta

From September 1999 to April 2007, Domenico Cucinotta M.D., has been the Chairman of the Department of Internal Medicine , Aging and Nephrological sciences in the S. Orsola-Malpighi University Hospital - Bologna, Italy, where from 1990 to 2007 he has also held the position of Chief Physician of the Geriatric Medicine Unit. Today he is medical director in the VILLA LAURA Hospital, in Bologna, Italy; chairèerson of the Centre of Bioregulation and antiaging and Professor in the Master in Geriatric Medicine, University of San Marino and Ferrara, He has taken part in many Medical Research Council programmes looking at various syndromes affecting the elderly population, has served in many Expert Committees in Italy and abroad, developing new methods of clinical evaluation for elderly patients , and outlined and co-authored many peer-reviewed papers, chapters and books. Recently ha has developed a specific program in the field of the anti-aging medicine, based on intensive-preventive global evaluation and management of problems. He has been recipient of many research grants, conducted numerous clinical trials, and participated actively in national and international scientific meetings whether presenting papers, chairing sessions or organising symposia .He has also organised many national and international meetings and conferences in the field of geriatrics and internal medicine and he is a member of numerous national and international scientific societies. For more of ten years he has been member of the Council of the Società Italiana di Gerontologia e Geriatria and chairman of the Clinical Section. Since 2003 : Officer of the International Association of Gerontology and Geriatrics – European Region.cucin.d@libero.it domenico.cucinotta@villalaura.it